Overview

How many sources of electricity are there in Malta?

At present, there are five main sources of electricity generation in Malta: a 60 MW temporary diesel-fuelled power plant. Over the past decade, Malta has seen a significant increase in renewable energy generation as a share of supplied electricity.

What is Malta's energy strategy?

Nonetheless, Malta's energy strategy is evolving, and recent years have seen a stronger focus on offshore solar and wind systems. This shift reflects Malta's adaptation to limited land resources while pursuing ambitious renewable energy targets.

What is the energy mix in Malta?

Following such developments, the electrical energy mix in Malta consists of approximately: 10% of local RES generation. As part of the EU's Green Deal initiatives, Malta's official RES targets are 11.5% contributions in the gross final energy consumption by 2030.

Does Malta have a green gas infrastructure?

Although Malta does not currently have the infrastructure for large-scale transportation or storage of green gas, renewable gases are being considered under the NECP as part of the long-term solutions for Malta's energy mix. Challenges and Limitations The development of renewable gas infrastructure in Malta faces the following challenges:.

What are Malta's biofuel policies & regulations?

Presently, Malta's biofuel policies and regulations align with the EU's Renewable Energy Directive (RED II), which sets targets for incorporating renewable energy into transportation. Under EU requirements, Malta's targets for 2030 are a 14% renewable energy share in transport.

What will Malta do to meet its energy goals?

To meet these objectives, Malta is expected to continue its investments in renewable energy infrastructure and policy reforms, with a particular focus on offshore development, energy storage solutions, demand-side management and grid flexibility.
