Overview

What is the ASEAN connectivity strategic plan monitoring and evaluation system?

The ASEAN Connectivity Strategic Plan monitoring and evaluation system will consist of three key components, namely progress assessment, operational assessment and impact assessment.

How does the ASEAN Secretariat support the work of ASEAN connectivity?

The ASEAN Secretariat shall enhance its capacities to support the work of ASEAN Connectivity in close collaboration with ASEAN Community Pillars, relevant sectors, external partners and other stakeholders.

What does the ASEAN connectivity Coordinating Committee do?

The ASEAN Connectivity Coordinating Committee shall deepen and broaden engagements with Dialogue Partners and other external partners in developing connectivity initiatives that leverage on the core competencies of various partners. 20.

Why is infrastructure connectivity important in ASEAN?

Enhancing infrastructure connectivity within and between ASEAN Member States will drive more trade, investment and regional integration, improve access to markets and resources, thereby facilitating more sustainable and inclusive economic development.

How can ASEAN achieve a strong regional identity?

Promoting cultural exchanges and collaboration can help harness the collective strength and creativity of the peoples of ASEAN. A strong regional identity builds a cohesive community that drives regional progress and resilience. The second Objective for Strategic Goal 6 is “Enhanced cooperation in education and academic research and exchanges”.

What does the ASEAN Coordinating Council do?

The ASEAN Coordinating Council shall oversee the implementation of the ASEAN Connectivity Strategic Plan through the ASEAN Connectivity Coordinating Committee with the support of the ASEAN Sectoral Bodies and Implementing Bodies, ASEAN Connectivity National Coordinators, relevant national agencies and the ASEAN Secretariat.
