China-Europe Photovoltaic Inverter

Overview

Who makes the most solar inverters in Europe?

In 2023, 78% of all inverters installed in Europe came from Chinese vendors, with the overwhelming majority being made by Huawei and SunGrow, according to DNV, a risk consultancy. The report was commissioned by SolarPower Europe, an industry advocacy group.

Are photovoltaic inverters a threat to Europe's energy sovereignty?

“Europe’s energy sovereignty is at serious risk due to the unregulated and remote control capabilities of photovoltaic inverters from high-risk, non-European manufacturers – most notably from China,” said the European Solar Manufacturing Council, an industry association. This isn’t purely hypothetical, either.

Could Chinese inverters shut down Europe's grid?

It is one of six Chinese vendors that collectively control over 219 GW. Given that Spain’s grid collapsed after a 2.2 GW drop, these vendors could remotely shut down Europe’s grid. Reports of rogue communication devices in Chinese inverters, allowing them to bypass firewalls, further highlight the need for action.

Does China supply solar inverters?

Also, world countries depend almost completely on China for the supply of photovoltaic inverters, at least until 2025, according to the International Energy Agency. A visible issue. The global solar PV market is dominated by Asian companies, with the majority of EU imports coming from fewer than three countries.

Are non-European solar inverters a threat to Europe's Energy Autonomy?

The European Solar Manufacturing Council (ESMC) has issued a stark warning, highlighting a critical threat to Europe’s energy autonomy stemming from the unregulated remote access capabilities of PV inverters produced by non-European, high-risk manufacturers—particularly those from China. A recent study by DNV substantiates these concerns.

Why are Chinese solar inverters so popular?

The report was commissioned by SolarPower Europe, an industry advocacy group. This market dominance can likely be explained by a combination of China's large manufacturing capacity and the comparatively lower prices of Chinese inverters compared to European ones.
