Why is Iran expanding its capacity for lithium batteries?

Iran's capacity for production of lithium batteries is expanding to help its electrification drive. Iran is planning to expand its home-grown infrastructure for production of lithium batteries to respond to the electrification needs in its automotive sector, according to a senior official in the country's defense ministry.

Can Iran make lithium batteries for electric vehicles?

Reza Shojaei, who serves as a deputy head at the Iranian defense ministry's department for energy resources, said on Tuesday that Iran has the technology needed to design and manufacture lithium batteries that are used in electric vehicles.

Is there a lithium reserve in Iran?

Ebrahim Ali Molabeigi Iran's minister of Industry announces "the discovery of the first lithium reserve estimated to be 8.5 million tonnes of lithium carbonate equivalent (LCE) in Hamedan province signalling positive news of the possibility of other reserves in the western Iranian region".

Will Iran be the first entrant to lithium?

As the Middle East's first entrant into lithium, all eyes will be on Iran. Finding lithium in the region indicates that the middle east mining sector may become a new and key player supplying battery metals and critical minerals contributing to the global battery and electric mobility ecosystem.

Can Iran use lithium as a natural resource?

Second, the geo-political weight that Iran can use Lithium as natural resource tool to negotiate the uplifting of existing sanctions imposed by the West (United States, European Union and its allies). Third, Iran can market it's mineral potential to further attract foreign investment of hard currency into the economy from Lithium exploration.

Will Iran have a tenth of the world's lithium supply?

It will be the largest deposit outside of South America, second only to a 9.2-million-ton deposit in Chile. With global Lithium reserves estimated at 89 million tons, Iran may possibly possess almost one tenth of the world's Lithium supply." Iran's recent Lithium discovery will shift more attention to mining in the Middle East. Why?
