Libya 2025 Energy Storage Project

Overview

Will Libya's Sadada Solar Project Advance in 2025?

Libya's Sadada solar project is expected to advance in 2025, with preparations underway. Developed by energy major TotalEnergies in partnership with the General Electricity Company of Libya and the Renewable Energy Authority of Libya (REAOL), the project will have a capacity of 500 MW.

Will totalenergies build a solar project in Libya?

TotalEnergies is anticipated to commission its 500 MW Sadada project in 2025, a monumental solar project in Libya. The project is being built in partnership with the General Electricity Company of Libya. The Renewable Energy Authority of Libya also has a role to play in its delivery.

What is Libya's energy strategy?

Oil-rich Libya is aiming to meet its rising energy demands with renewable resources, of which solar has been identified as having "immense potential," with at least one major project "in its final stages." The country's renewable energy strategy aims to achieve 4GW of capacity by 2035, representing 20% of the country's energy portfolio.

Will Libya build a 500 MW solar park?

General Electricity Company of Libya (Gecol), a state-owned utility, plans to build a 500 MW solar park in the Sadada region, 280 kilometers southeast of Tripoli, in partnership with French energy giant TotalEnergies.

How much solar power does Libya have?

According to the International Renewable Energy Agency, Libya only has 6 MW of installed PV capacity. In its strategic plan for renewables for the 2013-25 period, the Libyan government has set targets for 300 MW of PV by 2020 and 450 MW by 2025. It has also set targets to build 150 MW of concentrated solar power by 2020 and 800 MW by 2025.

Will the Sadada project help Libya transition to renewables?

Once fully commissioned, the Sadada project is expected to play a key role in Libya's transition to renewables. Currently, 25% of Libya's electricity production depends on oil and gas. However, the country has immense solar potential that Dr. Elansari notes must be utilized.
