Can 5G wireless communication be used in maritime applications?

Recently, 5G wireless communication have been rapidly adopted for maritime applications. As a result, significant progress has been made in the ocean digitalization. 5G features with low latency, high reliability, and a large bandwidth, which satisfies the requirements of maritime applications.

Do maritime 5G terminals meet the communication requirements?

The received signal level (RSL) and transmission data rate obtained by the maritime 5G terminals demonstrate great potential of meeting the communication requirements of the maritime users.

What is 5G marine netwo K?

quent communication interactions.SOLUTIONIn Ningde, China Mobile and Huawei have built a showcase 5G marine netwo k to provide coverage up to 50 km offshore. The network employs tall radio masts transmitting over a mixture of frequency bands, supplemented by network technologies and techn.

What can 5G do for maritime law enforcement?

Supporting a wide range of applicationsMaritime law enforcement agencies are using the 5G network to capture real-time video feeds from ships out at sea, allowing for around-the-clock surveillance which is muc.

Can 5G be used for remote control of unmanned ships?

It is also can be found that the RSL and the data transmission rate of the maritime 5G can be used for the remote control of the unmanned ships, with the signal strength at sea up to -89.45 dBm, and maximum rate up to 226 Mbps. What is a maritime communication network (MCN)?

Current maritime communication networks (MCNs) mainly rely on satellites and on-shore base stations (BSs). The former generally provides limited transmission rate while the latter lacks wide-area coverage capability. As a result, the development of current MCN lags far behind the terrestrial fifth-generation (5G) network. Need Help?
