Namibia home solar system grid connection

Overview

How many people in Namibia have solar power?

The Namibia: Geospatial Least Cost Electrification Plan of 2021 estimates that about 50% of Namibian households had access to grid-based or MTF Tier 3 solar home system-based electricity services in 2019. Informal areas around urban centres (i.e. peri-urban areas) are rapidly expanding.

Do Namibian electricity utilities have a grid?

Contemporary Namibian electricity utilities are almost exclusively focused on grid-connected operations, and their underlying business is centred on operating grid infrastructure. To date, more than half of Namibia's population does not benefit from access to electricity.

Does Namibia have electricity?

According to the National Household Income and Expenditure Survey of 2015/16, the country has a national electrification rate of approximately 45%. This means that more than half of Namibia's population does not reap the benefits of having access to electrical energy.

Does Namibia have a rural electrification plan?

In Namibia's rural areas, electrification efforts are guided by the Rural Electricity Distribution Master Plan and Off-Grid Energisation Master Plan. However, these plans have generally not delivered the desired outcomes, and the estimated extent of households without access to electricity remains at 80%.

Will Namibia achieve universal electricity access by 2040?

Accelerating national development to benefit all Namibians implies that the Government intends to substantially increase access to reliable electricity services, with the aim to achieve universal access by 2040.

What is Namibia's electricity industry structure?

An overview of Namibia's electricity industry structure is provided in Annexure B. The MME has the primary responsibility to implement the National Electrification Policy. It is the institutional anchor that coordinates all matters relating to national electrification. Where appropriate, the MME delegates activities to other entities.
